Two popular little French books which contain the requisite text and a very definite method for teaching

Everyday, Conversational French

MON PETIT TROTT. A modern French classic by André Lichtenberger, edited and adapted for school use by Léopold Cardon. A charming story creating a thoroughly French atmosphere. Vocabulary rich in words and expressions about common things of present-day life.

A LA MAISON FRANCAISE. By Cardon and Weeks. The action takes place for the most part at the French House of one of our large universities, the same characters appearing throughout, attending recitations, skating, motoring, entertaining, traveling, etc.

Skillfully planned exercises in both books, providing the best kind of drill

UNBIASED TREATMENT                      NEW VIEWPOINTS
NEW MATERIAL

Prominent constructive features:

1. Topical rather than narrative plan.
2. Emphasis on historical events contributory to present-day development.
3. Social and economic aspects of history stressed.
4. Consistent unity—close organization.
5. Departs from conventional form. Omits biographies and stories of personal exploit that properly belong in an elementary textbook.
6. Each chapter developed on a single important theme.

COMMUNITY CIVICS

By
AMES AND ELDRED

THE NEW ERA is stressing the training of citizens. The World War has emphasized a new idea and a new ideal of civic responsibility. In this attractive little book the authors present positive stimuli to arouse civic consciousness in the minds of children. Much of the material used is adapted from actual classroom questions and problems as advanced by the children themselves. An excellent book for either a basal or supplementary text.
